

Reminder App

A reminder for patients to take their medication

Features:

- Reminders for when the medication must be taken including which medication
 - This information will be retrieved from a database
- Patients can record things such as sugar levels and blood pressure
 - Will be stored in a database
- They will receive a special notification for when the medication is about to run out and prompt them to get a new prescription

The app can also include:

a feature to quick dial emergency services as well as the patients gp patients can receive updates from their doctors

a function that can be set up to receive the medical results digitally

Front end

Java

Back end

SQL database?